Bristol High School won the third annual Lower Bucks County Conference track meet held at Morrisville Saturday afternoon. The home team tallied 60 points to Morrisville's 54½. Langhorne finished third in Class A with 38 and Bensalem last with 35½.

Big Paul Ruby, hard working all-around Bristol athlete, continued his versatile actions that have stamped him as one of the leading stars in the district for the past two years by taking the shot put and high jump. The latter event, a new one for Ruby, surprised those in attendance. His leap of 5 foot 8 inches, which set a new meet mark, just about sewed it up for the Cardinal and Grey forces.

Army Capriotti again won the pole vault with a 10 foot 2 inch shove. This also established a new meet record. Keith Rosser's 55.4 effort in the quarter mile run was the only first the locals could garner. But many points were picked up by Silvers Sagolla, Goben, Melidjo and DiLorenzo throughout the course of the afternoon.

Bensalem's sprint star, power driving Len Ejdys, paired with Bristol's Ruby in supplying another of the meet's three double winners. The Owl runner annexed the 100 and 220 yard dashes in an effort to stick Bensalem in the running. His century timing was under his peak for the season, but he turned in a 23.4 job to create a new 220 yard standard. Two other meet marks went tumbling into oblivion when Red Pratt, of Morrisville, hurled the javelin 142 feet 3½ inches and Bill Hutchinson, of the same school, traversed the 110 yard low hurdles in 14.1.

Morrisville barely missed beating Bristol by one-half a point. Fred Krantz, promising Bulldog half miler, was headed for a triumph in that event when he flew past Langhorne's Bill Brady with thirty yards to go. However, just as he went by Prall, he fell upon the track and all hopes of a win went out of the picture. Johnny Miller went drifting by to take the event. Prall was second and DiLorenzo was third. Had Krantz won for Morrisville, DiLorenzo would have been fourth and the Dogs would have won the meet by a half point margin. It was reported that Coach Doherty, of Morrisville, claimed a foul on Prall, but the judges refused to make any disqualification.

St. Francis entered a team in the Class B division which antagonized Newtown into a tie for the championship. In previous meets Newtown had made a habit of monopolizing the smaller division. Both teams tallied 57 points in the eight event program.

The lads from Eddington were headed for the title until the final event on the card, which was the mile relay. But Newtown, with Mathews, Plum, VanArtsdalen and Crowthers leading the way, snatched the mile test with ease to tie the Industrial School.

Johnsen, of Newtown, won the high and broad jumps to lead in the point making. Palmore, Dugan and Celeste paced St. Francis, while Browthers and Mathews teamed with Johnson in supplying Newtown's punch.

Three Little "Maids" at School
(By "The Stroller")
LANGHORNE, May 4—When uproarious laughter subsided in two class-rooms of Langhorne-Middletown high school a few days ago, two teachers blinked their eyes, took another look, and blinked again—then decided their eyes were not deceiving them.

For sitting "demurely" in their accustomed seats were two sophomore boys and one senior boy—with pants-legs rolled up, and each wearing a skirt.

Their class-mates thought it quite a funny incident, the trio of strangely-garbed boys bore up well under the taunts and laughter of their co-students, but the instructors smilingly made short work of the episode.

It was fun while it lasted—but it didn't last long. Although no explanation was made by the trio appearing in skirts in their respective roll-call rooms, it is presumed the costumes were decided upon in retaliation for some of the girls appearing in classes wearing slacks.

According to the teachers, the plan of the boys to show the girls how their mannish costumes worn in school appear in the eyes of the boys, had no effect; for a few of the young women are still wearing slacks to classes.

POWERFUL U. S. FLEET GUARDS THE CONVOYS

Each Ship in The Convoy Carries Guns of Its Own

FEEL PERFECTLY SAFE

(Note: This is the third in a series of six articles by Pat Robinson, International News Service Staff Correspondent with American forces in Australia, giving an account of life aboard an American troop transport.—INS)

By Pat Robinson
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD A TRANSPORT SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, May 4.—(INS)—How much naval strength your Uncle Samuel is using in conveying troops overseas may not be revealed, but I can assure you it is very formidable; so formidable indeed that every man aboard feels just as safe as if he were back in the old home town.

As a matter of fact, every ship in this particular convoy is well able to take care of itself if need be. We, for instance, are fully capable of giving a hot reception to any enemy sub or plane. We have a four-inch gun aft that could blast any Jap sub to hell in short order. We have two three-inchers in the forward turrets that wouldn't do them any good, to say nothing of a group of 50 caliber sweethearts that can fire around 700 shells a minute.

After lunch today our boat dropped to the rear of the convoy for a little gunnery practice and all the guns went into action. At the same time, several of the boys were staging boxing bouts on the well deck. It certainly was a novel setting for boxing and I feel sure promoter Mike Jacobs would have charged at least 50 bucks for a ringside pew if he had the chance.

There was some confusion at the first of the daily life boat drills but when the signal was given today every man reached his post promptly and with the ease and precision of the Cadet Corps marching at West Point.

It is now very hot and the boys hate to wear their life belts all day but that, of course, is mandatory. The life belt consists of eight sections of cork about a foot long, four inches wide and three thick, all covered by canvas. It is put on like a vest and tied top and bottom inside and out. The sailors tell me they are strong enough to keep a man afloat for three days.

I asked our efficient young signalman, Ensign Ken Morris of Philadelphia (Annapolis '40) what would happen if a man wasn't picked up within three days.

MARTIN TELLS THE MINERS OF PLANS HE HAS TO AID THEM

Will Get Lists of Fuel Oil
Consumers From Oil Companies

GOV. JAMES ALSO TO AID

Will Make Appeal To Executives of Other States to Use Coal As Fuel

WILKES-BARRE, May 4—In a state-wide broadcast originating here Saturday night, Major General Edward Martin, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, appealed to the residents of the anthracite region for support. He asked for the support of the miners on the basis of what he is trying to do for the hard coal industry.

Martin said he had received a pledge of the oil companies to turn over to anthracite distributors lists of fuel oil consumers and that Governor James would seek the support of executives in other states to heat public buildings with hard coal.

General Martin spoke as follows: "Follow Pennsylvanians of the hard coal counties:

"What I am about to say to you is far more important and far more vital than the ordinary political message.

"I am about to offer myself as your salesman for all the coal you can bring to the mine mouth in the great hard coal counties of Pennsylvania. Your anthracite industry has the capacity to produce not less than 70 million tons every year. It has been a long, long time since you approached that tonnage.

"It has been many years since there was actual prosperity in the coal fields. During the first ten months of 1941, the United States Bureau of Mines reported a total production of 46,340,000 tons. That was about 9 per cent better than your total production in 1940.

This does not, of course, include the production of the so-called 'bootleg mines' and in 1940 they were credited with about 4½ million tons.

"This year you were expected to mine about 55 million tons. It was estimated six months ago that your markets would not absorb any more than that tonnage.

"This war and our part in it has changed the whole picture for the hard coal counties. The Atlantic Seaboard

One Man's Opinion By WALTER KIERNAN (I. N. S. Staff Writer)

Thurman Arnold's boss won't let him testify at a Congressional hearing because the subject is "controversial."

This is the first time anybody has thrown a blanket over Joe Thurman and it's like keeping Joe Louis out of a fight because blows may be struck.

Old Thurman has been swapping body punches so long he looks a little strange in a neutral corner.

On even days he swings a powerful left at capital. On odd days he jabs labor with a short right.

Old Thurman's boss, the attorney general, said he thought Thurman's position was already well known on the "controversial" subject which happened to be an angle of labor.

He said that "Mr. Arnold has heretofore expressed himself" on the subject.

When you say that Mr. Arnold has "expressed" himself on anything you mean that he has gone 10 rounds with it and is breathing easily.

It looks now like he isn't going to be matched for the next all-star card.

Thought for the day: C'mon out fellas—he's gone.

Miss Cecelia Calder Is Bride of Robert Moss, Jr.

A pretty May wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in Calvary Baptist Church when the Rev. Lehmann Strauss united Miss Cecelia A. Calder, daughter of Mrs. Cecelia Herman, Emille Road, and Mr. Robert H. Moss, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Moss, Beaver street.

Mrs. Mildred Lauer served as organist and played prior to the ceremony "Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly," playing a wedding march as the bridal party entered the church.

Miss Edna Calder, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; and Miss Mary Lemon was bridesmaid. Mr. Albert Moss was best man, and Mr. Lester Hendrickson served as usher.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white satin, featuring a sweetheart neckline, leg o'mutton sleeves, shirred bodice and a long full skirt which ended in a train. Her finger-tip veil, edged with lace, was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She wore white satin slippers, and carried cala lilies and orchids.

The attendants were attractive in gowns fashioned alike, the maid of honor wearing blue net over satin and the bridesmaid pink net. The gowns featured V necklines, tight bodices and long full skirts. Matching shoulder-length veils, and silver slippers completed their costumes, with each carrying an old-fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Dick's Hall, Edgely, with covers being placed for 200.

EQUALITY IN SLAVERY

In considering an address by an Axis spokesman, it cannot be assumed that everything he says is a lie. His viewpoint must be taken into consideration. Foreign Minister Togo of Japan recently said in a radio address that Japan and her Axis allies soon will deal the knock-out blow to the old order in the world to make way for the new based on justice and equality for all.

Passing by as so much rubbish all that talk about the knockout blow soon to be driven home and about justice prevailing under the new order, there remains the reference to equality. Mr. Togo knows that everyone is aware that the Axis nations, if victorious, would not even dream of placing themselves on a basis of equality with the losers—that is, with the victims of Axis aggression. What he really means is that all the losers will be placed on a basis of equality.

In this department, Hitler has shown the way. He has bestowed a certain equality in wretchedness on the French, the Belgians, the Czechs, the Poles, the Serbs, the Greeks, the Norwegians and numerous other peoples.

Of course, there are some kinks yet to be straightened out. Some of these people are faring a little better, if that is possible, than others. But the Axis powers could be trusted to remedy these oversights if the new order of which they speak ever were to prevail. If the United Nations do not fight this war to eventual victory against whatever odds, equality in slavery will be the lot of all axis-dominated peoples.

MAKING RUBBLE OF REICH

Possibly preview of things to come is the article by William B. Ziff, student of military affairs and publisher of Flying Magazine, in the current American Mercury in which he declares the United States is in a position to destroy Germany as a whole by means of a stupendous and sustained aerial offensive, using Britain as a base.

The plan conceived by Mr. Ziff would make all the previous aerial offensives and the shellacking Britain is currently giving Germany look like international holidays for war pilots.

"Our ultimate goal," he says, "should be a continuously replenished pool of 5,000 heavy bombers weighing in to 300 tons each, with speeds in excess of 400 miles an hour. Such an aerial offensive, coupled with a willingness to write off in advance 2,000 of these bombers a month as a necessary investment, would for the first time constitute a genuine attack in force which could hope to bring about an absolute decision with no other important supplementary factors operating."

"There is reason to believe that a ten-ton bomb, at which the peak of efficiency is reached, would topple buildings within a radius of five miles. Raids involving such monster demolition bombs, followed by a thorough broadcast of incendiaries, will reduce any city or industrial settlement to the dimensions of rubble."

Under Mr. Ziff's plan there would be a continuous stream of destruction from the air over Germany, reducing to wreckage communication centers, viaducts and bridges, shipyards, key factories, oil reservoirs and industrial aggregates. A secondary series of targets would be powder plants, factories and industrial centers, to destroy the German armed strength at its source.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol June 24, 1880. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The army worm has made its appearance in Penn's Manor.

Langhorne's census enumerator has returned the population of that borough at 557. Langhorne was not incorporated ten years ago, hence its present population is incomparable.

The population of New Hope is found to be 1,150. In 1870 it was 1,225.

The scarcity of sturgeon in the Delaware is owing to the down river fisheries, where extensive nets are used in catching this fish. Lately several have been seen near the water works wharf, leaping in the air. Thirty years ago they could be seen almost at any time leaping along the river, but they are a rare sight now. They have been known in their leaps, to fall in market boats and be thus secured. It has been said that there was danger, where they most abounded, to cross the Delaware in small fishing skiffs.

There was a good-sized sensation at C. W. & J. Peirce's mill, yesterday afternoon. The piston rod of the large engine which drives the great portion of the machinery in the mill broke, and the piston knocked out the cylinder head. The force of the blow was so great that the noise produced sounded like the firing of a heavy gun. It will probably be about a week before the break is repaired, during which time a large proportion of the employees will have an opportunity to take summer excursions to the seashore or other popular resorts.

The increase in population of Bristol borough during the last decade is over 60 per cent. In all the returns thus far published we have not heard of any town that has shown so great an increase. Bristol owes its prosperity entirely to the manufacturing interests that have been developed. Its increase in population and wealth is due to no other cause.

It is our sad duty to record the death of Miss Carrie Babbitt, of Toledo, Ohio, which took place yesterday evening at seven o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Charles Peirce. cent competency. The nature and urgency of the task make any such percentage impossible. Waste and confusion are inseparable and inescapable from so gigantic a task. However, unrestrained waste and confusion such as now exist in Washington cannot be defended nor excused.

TO those who get even a superficial view of what is going on here, it is clear that there are vastly more people now manning the war organizations than can be justified on any grounds of emergency, haste or the size of the war. That has been true for a good many months. It promises to be true to a very much greater degree within the next six months, if the plans now maturing are carried out. Because it is no secret that the men in charge of the agencies recently created or expanded by the President for the promotion of his anti-inflation program, launched in his recent message to Congress, are preparing to enlist a great army of many thousands of additional job-holders.

THE POINT here sought to be made is that the stage has been reached where the unconsidered piling on of more and more persons on the pay rolls is a very emphatic handicap to the effective conduct of the war and it is high time the relation between the size of the establishment and the efficiency of the effort should become somebody's business. Up to now, it just has not been anybody's business. The heads of all the agencies, boards, divisions and commissions have gone steadily ahead manning their organizations with-

POEM FOR MOTHER

(Written by Private Earl Subers, in honor of his mother, Mrs. William Subers, of Edgely. Private Subers is with the U. S. Army in Iceland.)

This Mother's Day I'm far away
But my thoughts are still with you
I think of you both nite and day
And I'm never over blue.

I'm 'way up here in Iceland
Where all the breezes blow
But on Mother's Day in any land
My love for you will grow.

Back home I'd give you candy
And maybe a flower too
But this Mother's Day I'm sure you'll be Content, with my love for you.

out regard to expense, number or the possibility of overlapping. There is no coordination and there is no coordinator. In consequence, there is bewilderment and incompetency almost beyond belief. Senators and members of Congress, taking advantage of the open door and the unlimited money, have put thousands of constituents in jobs. As priorities and shortages squeeze out small business and create unemployment, hordes of the idle come here and the pressure for places is very great.

PARTICULARLY is this so with the multitudinous propaganda, information and publicity agencies, which are the haven of all sorts of alleged literary, journalistic and artistic gentlemen supposed to be doing "war work," but actually in each other's way doing nothing worth while at all. It, of course, is impossible for the President to know much about this situation or to bother personally with it if he did. Yet it is a detriment to the war effort. It not only diminishes efficiency but wastes money at a time when we need every dollar of revenue we can get from any source.

THERE are always exceptions, but it is literally true to say that, in general, every war agency in Washington is overmanned and that the whole business would function better if this were not the case. In the peaceful days of his first two terms, Mr. Roosevelt from time to time used to appoint a representative whose job was to bring order out of the New Deal disorder and coordinate its activities. The present Postmaster General, Mr. Frank Walker, made three distinct efforts of the sort with no success whatever, largely because he had no real authority.

BUT this is war and coordination is infinitely more vital than before. At the moment, there seem few things more important than checking the waste and confusion here before it becomes completely uncontrollable. If the President could be induced to name an able, qualified man and clothe him with full power he could make a very great contribution merely by weeding out and co-ordinating. The need grows with every week.

BOSTON TAX DELINQUENTS

BOSTON.—(INS).—The city has yet to collect $450,000 in taxes on approximately 2,000 real estate properties for 1940, the current City Record shows. The list, however, is the smallest to be advertised in recent years. But the city isn't worried, because many of the tax delinquents are expected to settle their accounts before the tax title taking by the city on April 29th.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY
WASHINGTON
May 3, 1942

TO THE PEOPLE OF PENNSYLVANIA:

This week a new campaign for the sale of War Bonds and Savings Stamps is under way throughout the Nation. It is the War Bond Quota Campaign.

It is urgently necessary that you double the rate at which you are now buying War Bonds and Stamps. This will mean the sale direct to individual Americans of War Bonds and Stamps to the amount of not less than one billion dollars every month.

One billion dollars a month is the National quota. It is equal to one-tenth the combined incomes of all Americans.

This money is needed to buy the tools of war for your fighting forces. It will not pay for all of them. Our war expenditures now are at the rate of about FOUR BILLIONS a month, and they are growing daily. But a billion dollars a month direct from the people will make all-out production possible. Without it we cannot do our best; without it we cannot put forth our full effort.

It is desperately needed for another reason. We can't fight a war and at the same time live and spend as usual. There are not enough goods to go around — the things we buy with money. If we go on spending at the 1941 scale, we'll be robbing the fighting men to add to our own comfort or pleasure. We'll be driving up the cost of living for all of us. We'll be imposing dire hardships on our neighbors.

What is asked of you is ten per cent of your earnings — a tithe for Liberty. It is not a tax; it is not even a contribution; it is a loan at interest, for your use and protection later.

Your Government asks you to cut down your expenditures, TO SAVE — your boys on the firing line and in the training camps, through your Government, ask you to save so that they may have what they need to win YOUR WAR for you — America asks you to save; to SAVE TO WIN THE WAR to buy War Bonds and Stamps up to not less than ten per cent of your income.

Is Liberty worth it? Is Democracy worth it? Is America worth it? I think I know your answer.

Sincerely,

The above letter was sent to this newspaper by Secretary Morgenthau in Washington. We publish it in the interest of the War Bond Quota Campaign and earnestly recommend that all our readers do their share in the tremendous job ahead of financing the War effort.

Hoppock-Mulholland Wedding
Is Solemnized On Saturday

An attractive early May nuptial ceremony attracted a large company to Bristol Methodist Church on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Dorothy M. Mulholland, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Mulholland, 1511 Farragut avenue, was wed to Mr. Howard S. Hoppock, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Hoppock, of Trenton, N. J. The Rev. W. E. Preston Haas was the officiating clergyman at the 3.30 ceremony.

The organist for the occasion was Mrs. Samuel Smith, of Edgely, she accompanying Mrs. Charles Rathke, of Pond street, who sang "Because," and Mr. James Lutz, whose vocal number was "O Promise Me."

Attending the bride and groom were Miss Charlotte Rathke, Pond street, and Mr. John Hoppock, Stockton, N. J., a brother of the groom.

A street-length dress of poudre blue sheer was selected by the bride for the occasion, her flower-lot matching. She wore white gloves, navy blue slippers, and a corsage of gardenias. Miss Rathke wore a dress of greyed pink silk crepe, hat and accessories of fuchsia tone; and a gardenia corsage.

Mr. Hoppock and bride left following the ceremony for a three days' honeymoon journey. They will reside in an apartment on Farragut avenue.

Victory Garden Without
Flowers Would be Lacking

A Victory Garden without flowers this year, will be lacking, as will a flower garden without vegetables. Even in the smallest garden plots room can be found for a row of flowers; and you will be surprised to find how well they grow, when given the same treatment as your vegetables.

That means, sow them in drills, (shallow furrows) just as you would sow lettuce, cultivate them with the wheel hoe, and water them with the rest of the garden. Some flowers which give even experts trouble when they are grown in beds and borders, snap right out of their sulkiness when they are grown in a garden row.

Most conspicuous of these is salpiglossis, or painted tongue. A surprising number of professionals have trouble growing this beautiful flower, which has rich trumpet blossoms of scarlet and gold and many blends and combinations of these colors, and is certainly one of the loveliest of cut flowers.

The fact is, this flower does not like to be coddled. It likes full sun, and stands dry weather better than most. Sow it in a row, and give it the same treatment you give radishes. It comes up and seems to stand still for weeks. Then suddenly it is blossoming, and it continues to blossom freely until frosts kill it. Planted in close company with other flowers, it behaves as though it didn't like the company.

If you have room for only one or two rows of flowers, sow a mixture, such as the seedsmen sell under such names as surprise garden, wild flower, or cut flower mixture. This is usually made up of a large number of easily grown flowers, and it will give you a remarkable variety of blossoms, some of which may be new to you.

A border of flowers in front of the vegetable rows will make the Victory Garden a thing of beauty. If your plot is broken up by paths, then a row of flowers on each side of the path will be attractive.

Red, white and blue combinations will be popular. They can be obtained in many flowers, notably in petunias, centaureas and morning glories.

yesterday, confirming all the sensational reports which had preceded it.

The picture is "Citizen Kane" Its star, its co-author, its producer and its director is Orson Welles, that 26-year-old prodigy of the entertainment world who does one remarkable thing after another with the ease of undoubted genius.

Welles' production of "Citizen Kane," now at the Grand, is the story of a man with an unquenchable lust for power over life, money and love. Through a radically new technique of telling the story of this hot-blooded man, he is seen through the eyes of the people who feared him, hated him, and loved him.

RITZ THEATRE

A novel combination of factual army life and fictional adventure, with Wallace Beery as the star, won favorable reaction from an audience at the Ritz Theatre where "The Bugle Sounds" is showing. The picture was filmed with the co-operation of the War Department, which permitted camera crews to accompany the regular troops out of Fort Knox, Ky., in the war games in Louisiana.

BRISTOL THEATRE

The series of musical westerns starring Gene Autry are played in more theatres than those of any other star, and, moreover, are replayed over and over again because of public demand. Gene's latest picture, "Cowboy Serenade," is at the Bristol Theatre. Jean Parker proves her acting versatility beyond a shadow of a doubt in "No Hands on the Clock," now at the Bristol Theatre.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly

(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Too many colors, too bright colors bring about accessory problems. Outfits should be selected with inter-changeable accessories in mind.

Though brighter hues and vivid shades give a lift and make a flashy appearance, they make more demands on a person's pocketbook, because many different sets of accessories must be purchased.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the greyed tones. This does not mean that costumes will be dull, unattractive and colorless. A blue is still a blue if it is a powder blue. A pink is still a pink if it is a dusty pink. A green is still a green if it is a greyed green.

Then, you ask, what is the purpose of greying colors if they are still exponents of their namesakes? For one simple reason—and a very good one when you consider the completion of an outfit. You will find that materials of greyed tones may be worn with most any accessory color scheme.

Looking at it from a practical standpoint, if you choose accessories of luggage tan, a costume of bright pink would most definitely clash and be out of key. If, on the other hand, your outfit were dusty or very soft pink, there would be perfect harmony between the two shades.

Consider the problem from the opposite point, taking the costume first. Suppose you had an outfit of gray-green, as one of Alexis Smith's casual frocks in "The Constant Nymph." You can wear almost any color with this shade because greying a tone neutralizes it without destroying the essence of color.

This is a fact that deserves your attention when choosing clothes at this time. We are in for a great deal of buckling down to intelligent efficiency. We cannot afford to dress flippantly. We must place our confidence in sanity of dress and avoid the ridiculous.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE SCHEDULES OPENING OF SEASON TONIGHT WITH TWO GAMES BEING BOOKED

The Bristol Suburban League opens its 1942 baseball season this evening with two games being scheduled. On St. Ann's field, Badenhausen will meet the Diamond team while on the Edgely field the Edgely A. C. will be host to the new entry into the league, the Hunter A. A.

The war will have a great effect on the circuit. Many of the younger boys are now in the armed services of the nation while many others are working in defense work which requires shift work and they will not be off on certain weeks which require them to work on the night shift.

About the most affected by the latter is the Badenhausen team. On certain weeks, the Badenhausen team will have but ten eligible players to field a team as the remainder of the 13 players will be working on a night shift.

Many new faces will also be seen in the various lineups. Many defense workers have migrated to this section and will be anxious to play ball and sign up with the various clubs of the loop.

Fleetwings and Rohm & Haas, both strong clubs of last season, were forced to withdraw from the loop because of the difficulty in fielding a team because of shift work.

This season will also witness a change in the management of several clubs. Henry Morgan, who managed the Auto Boys last season, is now at the helm of the Diamond team. George Dougherty will manage the Voltz-Texaco team. Milt Jones, formerly of the Odd Fellows, is now giving the orders on the Badenhausen lineup. Tony Angelo has taken over the St. Ann's team, while Ike Watson, an old-timer in local baseball, will handle the Hunter team. "Eddie" DeKoyser is the only hold-over from last season. He still runs the Edgely team.

It will be a difficult matter to pick the hurlers for this evening's games but it appears certain that Herm Plama will get Morgan's nod to toss them up against the Badenhausen team with the boiler-makers depending on either Harvey Rigby or Harry Munster. Ralph Linck and Smith are expected to oppose each other on the mound at Edgely.

The players' rosters are as follows: Diamond—Eddie Jeffries, Mike Dev, Risi, Joe Ric, James McCue, Robert Baurath, Herman Plama, Bill Dea, George Ritter, Ed Sullivan, Fred Oppman, Kelly, Joe Bounds, Elijah Bragg, Henry Morgan, Paul Victor Rockhill, Wilson Holland, Armand Capriotti, James Hopkins, Henry Clay Badenhausen—Rigby, Munster, Dean, Ludwig, Whyte, Vandegrift, Coblehigh, Tettemer, Goodwin, Cranston, Hemp, Bilger, Fraul, Murphy, Lauer, Jones. Edgely—Eddie DeKoyser, Ralph Linck, Albert Doster, Edward Hunter, William Leigh, Alex Dewenap, Joe Bleakney, Jesse Vansant, John Dick, Stanley Dick, Stan Felkner, Howard Black, Vic Rockhill, George Mann, Peter Kondyra, William Shedge, Turner Ashby, Paul Sterling.

"DANNY" MAZZILLO BRINGS IN NINE RUNS

"Danny" Mazzillo was responsible for nine runs yesterday afternoon as the Voltz-Texaco team defeated Fleetwings, 12-9, on the Rohm and Haas diamond.

Stepping up to the plate in the initial inning with the bases full, Danny smashed out a home run to deep center field. In the third with Cooper and Berry on base, Mazzillo single past shortstop to drive home the baserunners while in the ninth two more runs were batted in on a hit past the third baseman. Danny scored three runs himself.

For the airplane workers, Whittier hit a circuit clout with one on base in the sixth inning.

NEW RAF CLUB

LONDON—(INS)—When the King and Queen of England visited a parachute-making factory recently at Bradford, they learned of a new club that has sprung up in the RAF.

It is called the Caterpillar Club and all men who have saved their lives by taking to parachute are eligible for membership. The organization was begun in the Near East, and today there are hundreds of members. Insignia of the club is a small gold brooch with an engraved caterpillar.

ace is still a vital issue, just as it was during the last war.

He recalled that Admiral Sims in 1917 told him that the war with Germany then would end in the fall of 1918 cautioning him that "if we do not lick the submarine we are going to be licked ourselves because we will lack materials and cannot carry on the war without material."

"The same issue exists today," said Admiral Stark.

"Currently there is the closest cooperation between the American and British navies, not only to end the submarine menace but also to conduct aggressive war in other spheres."

Bensalem Twp. Man Instantly Killed When Hit By Train

The Bucks County Rescue Squad was summoned by a nearby resident, but death had been instantaneous. Dr. Charles F. Sampel, Britol, deputy coroner of Bucks county, viewed the body, and had it removed to the funeral home of Harold H. Haefner, Cornwells Heights.

Little information could be learned of Tomlinson's relatives. Residents here had heard him speak of a sister residing in Frankford, but her name is not determined.

On the Selective Service registration card which the man carried on his person, his address was given as Dunks Ferry Road. He had during the past several months done gardening work at "Sarobia," the home of Robert R. Logan, being employed by the day.

Martin Tells the Miners of Plans He Has To Aid Them

and the New England States can no longer depend on their accustomed supplies of fuel oil. Our ships are doing other and sterner work. There are not enough tank cars and pipe-lines to carry liquid fuel to the east from the great oil fields of the middle and south west.

"It is the job of the anthracite counties of Pennsylvania to heat the homes, the public buildings and the business buildings of the northeastern corner of these United States and much of eastern Canada."

"Can you do it? How much coal is, or will be, available? Can you miners and mine operators of the anthracite county dig 15 million tons more than you dug in 1941? Will you do it? Can the hard coal railways haul 15 million tons more than they hauled in 1941? Will they do it?"

"What will be the attitude of the great oil companies—the companies who have over the years built up a vast business in fuel oils among the householders? The industries? And in commercial and public buildings? What will they do about it?"

"I have received the pledges of the oil industry. In those pledges it is promised that they will turn over to the anthracite distributors their lists of all customers who are now heating their homes, their buildings, and their industrial plants with fuel oil."

"I also have the pledges of the great coal hauling railways, who promise to move from mine mouth to dealers' yards every pound of coal that can be mined."

"The big and little anthracite operators are anxious to help. They have promised to open every mine that can be opened and they will put to work every miner who is able and willing to work."

"Let me read you a typical message. It is from C. F. Huber, President of the Anthracite Institute."

"I quote, 'In reply to your inquiry as to the ability of the industry to provide anthracite in view of impending shortage of fuel oil stop related to 1941 performance, the industry has a potential reserve capacity stop given the opportunity, the operators and mine workers can be depended upon to do the utmost within their power to meet any emergency.'"

"And finally, I have enlisted the aid of the Governor of Pennsylvania. He has asked the Governors of all States in the anthracite-using territories to see to it that all the public buildings in their States over which they have control shall be heated with anthracite."

"I am helping you now to get back the most markets for your coal. I am working to help you get your coal to the consumer. Months in advance of the day when I expect to be inaugurated as Governor of Pennsylvania I am doing my best to give you work, and work means prosperity."

"Let me say this to you who dig the coal out of the hills of these hard coal counties. You know that the hard coal problem has almost wrecked this territory for years. For nearly a generation you have been promised aid and relief. All you have known over that time has been hardship and poverty."

"On January 1st of this year it was estimated that 100,000 people were out of work in the Schuylkill Valley, from Lykens up to and beyond Wilkes-Barre. Here was and is the greatest pool of unemployed manpower east of the Alleghenies."

"All that either one of your United States Senators can promise you now is the faint and feeble hope of a few war industries. That will meet your situation. In this great area of jobless mine workers and closed mines, war industries at this late date cannot help you or save you.

"All that my opponent in this primary campaign can think of to offer you is a laboratory to 'study' coal problems. What good will that do you? You cannot eat a laboratory. You cannot wear a laboratory, or buy shoes for the baby with a laboratory. You cannot send a few comforts to your boy at the front with a laboratory."

"Will a laboratory full of chemists and engineers feed your family this summer and next winter? Can a man with a test tube put any money into your pockets next fall or next spring? Will all this talk of laboratories buy clothes for your wife, or pay the grocery bill? You know better."

"All it means is just sweet talk—more promises—if you must rely on that you will continue to face hunger and hardship."

"What I am offering you is the greatest opportunity that has ever come to the hard coal country, after years of trouble and grief. It will restore these counties—all of the hard coal counties—to full production and full prosperity."

"Plenty of work. That is what you want. Work enough so that your sons and daughters need not leave home and go work-hunting unless they want to. Plenty of work will mean prosperity. Prosperity will come back to this whole district, and there will be enough of it for everybody."

"You know even better than I do what this will mean to you and to your own communities. Your schools have had a hard time for years. They will be restored and your school system will be better paid. There will be more clothes—and better clothes—for your children and your wives."

"There will be paint on your houses and flowers in your front yards. You can lift up your heads again and look any man in the eye and you can support your churches again as they ought to be supported. We cannot get along in this country or any other country without God and our Churches."

"When the coal begins to come out of the hills again as it did a generation ago, the good life blood will flow back again into the veins of your home communities. Then you can demand and get better local roads. Then your taxes will no longer be an unbearable burden. Your merchants, your store-keepers and other businessmen will prosper again."

"And you men in the mines will have your chance to serve your country at your chosen trade. You will all be doing your bit to help win this war."

"You men in the mines will also have your chance for freedom of expression in your own union locals, if you are willing to take it. If you don't like the way John L. Lewis is sprawling all over the labor picture and trying to get control of the farmers to milk them as he has milked you—and as my opponent Senator Davis has milked the Moose—then you can arrange your own day of reckoning with him."

"The only program I can offer you as this glad day of prosperity dawns, is a program of patriotism and production. But with that production will come freedom from the want and from the worry that has been riding on your shoulders for years."

"After all these long years of shining promises and empty words you and I know there is no easy way. But we do have this great opportunity. This is the only anthracite state in the Union. Pennsylvania has nearly all the anthracite in the western world. We have a right to regulate and to enjoy its production and use. We have the right and the duty to use it in winning this war that was forced upon us by the Axis powers."

"And we have other rights and other duties. Always in time of war there is an up-surge of the underworld, of the slimy racketeers, the thugs, rats and human lice who hope to take over our civil government. They slip into our unions. They make dangerous alliances with your leaders and with crooked and corrupt county and state leaders. They are forcing their way right now into this Primary Campaign. They are trying by every slimy means in their power to influence the results of this Republican Primary in which I am a candidate. They have their hook-ups in Washington and their fingers are reaching out into nearly every county of this State."

"The history of America is a simple story. We have shown the world that free men and free women can accomplish three times as much as anybody else on earth, and that one American soldier was the equal of five Japs in Bataan. We must keep our freedom by fighting for it and working for it, and keeping it out of the hands of corrupt men and crooked leadership."

"In this battle, the hard coal counties—and their men and women—must and will do their part. It can be a great part."

"If you will work with me now, and work with me when I am Governor, together we can bring good times back to the hard coal country. You will be helping your State, your Country and yourself."

"With the pledged help of the railways, the operators, the oil industry, and the public we can bring prosperity back to these hills and valleys. We can put production up to the figures that most of us have nearly forgotten. We can increase the use of coal that once was sold all the way from the seaboard to the Mississippi. The fuel that warmed and comforted millions of American homes."

"To do this, we must all work together. I can help you, you can help me. We can do this job. We do not need the help of the two United States Senators from Pennsylvania—one Democrat and one Republican—who are spending their days struggling for political control over their parties in this State and completely neglecting their own jobs in Washington while the world is on fire."

"Again I offer myself as your salesman. I offer you your own great opportunity to bring back plenty and prosperity for yourselves, your families, your own people, your merchants, and your communities."

"Well," he laughed, "if he isn't picked up in three days he wouldn't have to worry much anyway."

Lt. Blaine Tuttle, from Rochester, N. Y., nodded grim assent and Mess Sergeant Frank Chester, a terrific Dodge rooster from Brooklyn, who was allowed up for a breath of air, said for his part "they could toss him in the ocean any time to cool off because he was being fired to a turn down in that blankety blank kitchen."

The boys—many of them so young they tug at your heart strings and most of whom are seeing an ocean for the first time—crowded the rails as they always do to see the sun go down and believe me if you've never seen a tropical sun sinking behind a sea of cobalt blue and blazing the sky with a dazzling array of colors you've missed something.

As the sun set, there came through the loud speaker system the voice of an unseen officer intoning: "Lights out. Black out. Close all ports. Refrain from smoking about the open decks."

Then, in the gathering gloom came a scene that brought nostalgic memories of 1917. An aircraft mechanic said: "Hell, ain't there a piano around this joint?" and within a minute a fast hunt disclosed one. It was dragged aft on deck and the boys spread all around sitting shoulder to shoulder in a semi-circle. They overflowed on the rails and rafts and stanchions and in no time at all Pvt. Mitchell Trotter, who was a professional entertainer at Tampa, Fla., was leading the gang in song.

Trotter is a natural clown with an innate sense of pace and timing and he seems able to make the boys laugh or cry at will. They knocked off all the old favorites like Tipperary. Over There, Pack Up Your Troubles and Smile and then swung into the new ones, including one composed by the boys of this squadron called Going Home.

This Going Home is a tuneful number but I'm afraid the lyrics would never pass the censor. Bill Price of McAdoo, Pa., was at the piano and John Stander of Pittsburgh made an alto horn talk in nine languages while Trotter, John Scherr of St. Clair, Pa., and Winston Chenoveth of Linneus, Mo., took care of the solos.

Soon you could see only the ghostly outline of the boys silhouetted under the southern stars as they swung, sweet and low, into a spiritual number and you felt a sudden lump in your throat and a trickle down your cheek as you said a silent prayer that all these fine young kids would one day be going home.

"Jap" Spearhead Within 20 Miles of Free China's Border

Chungking—The spearhead of the Japanese advance in Burma was reported today to have reached within 20 miles of the border of free China.

Defending Chinese forces offered stubborn resistance and casualties on both sides were reported high when the Japanese began a fierce attack against Chinese positions 65 miles north of Lashio, southern terminus of the Burma Road, which was occupied by the Japanese.

Heavy fighting was reported also in the vicinity of Kweichow, 58 miles north of Lashio, around fallen Mandalay and at Monywa to the west and Taunggyi to the south.

(Editor's note: Latest authoritative word in London said that British and Chinese forces were still slowly falling back, the British along the Chindwin and the Chinese along the Irrawaddy River. Slight fighting was reported at Monywa. Two main Japanese advances were reported, one up the Burma Road toward Lashio and the other along the Chindwin Valley.)

May Ration Train and Bus Tickets

Washington—Rationing of all railroad and bus tickets was forecast by Government officials today as the Office of Defense Transportation strove to prevent a complete breakdown of the nation's transportation system.

Defense transportation director Joseph B. Eastman announced Sunday that "restrictions" on train and bus services are "imminent." It was learned that plans are being discussed to set up a system where "certificates of necessity" would be required before a person could purchase a train or bus ticket.

Meanwhile, it was said that plans are being made to extend gasoline rationing on a nationwide basis when a permanent system is set up July 1.
